

Cruise YARMOUTH

As your ship cruises to the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia, toward the gorgeous rocky coastline of Yarmouth & Acadian Shores, you'll understand why Leif Erikson may have decided to explore this part of the world—as some say he did—way back in the year 1000.

Come immerse yourself in Acadian culture, learn about the age-old fishing industry, visit the second most photographed Lighthouse in Nova Scotia and even climb the 77 steps to the top. Take a tour exploring the Tusket Islands. Be sure to chat with some of the locals and experience a “tyme” (and learn what that is!). And, if the stars align and you're in the area after night falls, cast your eyes to the sky. The region is so perfectly suited to view the night sky it's been designated as a Starlight Tourist Destination by the International Starlight Foundation. There's a bit of magic in Yarmouth and Acadian Shores.

THINGS TO DO

- Enjoy a guided tour, museum visit, scenic picnic or walk at the Cape Forchu Lighthouse
- Take a stroll back through time and see how the Acadians of the area lived, at Le Village Historique Acadian de la Nouvelle-Écosse
- Learn how to haul a real lobster trap, visit private floating docks and fishing shanty workshops, and enjoy a traditional seafood chowder while venturing out on the Tusket Island Tour
- With many museums and historical places, learn more of where the land meets the sea, and where our rich, cultural history is far more than words on paper
- Take a paddle on the wild side with a guided stand-up paddle boarding experience on nearby Lake Milo

The port of Yarmouth has year-round Canada Border Services (CBSA) and could be your first port of call from the United States if you choose to do so. The port of Yarmouth is one of only three ports in Nova Scotia designated by CBSA for Cruise Ship Operations (CSO) and available to you as your first port of call in Canada.
